I DIDN'T KNOW I WAS PREGNANT (SEASON 4) #25 - BREECH BABY IN THE BATH TUB

When 23-year-old Nicole separated from her husband, she moved back in with her parents and younger brother. They help get her life back together, but the stress of the break-up causes her weight to drop under a hundred pounds. Just after her parents embark on a 14-day Hawaiian cruise, Nicole endures a terrible night of cramping. Thinking she’s experiencing a really bad period, Nicole takes a hot bath. She soon realizes to her horror that she’s in labor and the baby is being born breech. Frantically, she screams for her brother and tries to turn the baby around in the birth canal, thinking they could both die in the next few minutes if she doesn’t get help.

I DIDN'T KNOW I WAS PREGNANT (SEASON 4) #19 - BABY IN A TORNADO

When 20-year-old Kayla is struck with terrible abdominal cramps, she gets her friend to drive her to the only clinic in their small Midwest town. In less than an hour, she gets some shocking news - she’s in labor and she had no idea she was pregnant. With no ultrasound equipment or labor and delivery unit, it’s critical that the clinic transfer Kayla to the nearest hospital. There’s one major problem though... Outside, there’s a tornado and the nearest hospital is 120 miles away. Kayla must endure a harrowing journey through deadly weather, with EMTs who have never delivered a baby before. Panic sets in when it becomes clear that Kayla is crowning, and they may not make it to the hospital in time.
