APRIL 2011 HIGHLIGHTS

NEW SERIES
(P) Denotes: Premieres

“Kidnapped By The Kids”
Series Premiere - Monday, April 4 at 9:00 p.m. ET/PT (60 minutes)

As parents everywhere struggle to balance the incredible demands of work and family, "Kidnapped By The Kids" finds out what happens when the kids are in charge. Can mom or dad learn to be a better parent from their child? The kids are done sacrificing their parents to their jobs, and are taking matters into their own hands. In this forced work sabbatical, it’s goodbye to cell phones and hello to family time with the kids at the helm.

(P) Monday, April 4 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Daughter Disconnect
Wade Morris, Sr., a self-employed businessman with an 80 hour work week, leaves very little time for his family. With Wade's wife Amber at her breaking point, nine year old Analei and five year old Wade Morris, Jr. kidnap their dad so they can spend quality time together.

(P) Monday, April 11 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: I'm the Daughter, Not the Mother
Working two jobs, Shannon Webb's hectic schedule makes her a virtual stranger in her own home. Greg, Shannon's husband of five years, was injured shortly after they were married, forcing Shannon to pick up the slack financially. Since then Shannon has been climbing the corporate ladder, enjoying the recognition she receives for her work. Fed up with their mom choosing work over family, kids Tayler, Morgan and Loren kidnap their workaholic mom taking her zip-lining, fishing and they revive their old tradition of "family fun night."

(P) Monday, April 18 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Practice What You Preach
Che Garcia is a full-time pastor of a local church and the owner and manager of a thrift store. Devoting seven days a week to his ministry and the store leaves little time to spend with his family. Che's wife of 15 years, Janice, feels their relationship is growing apart - that they are more like business partners than husband and wife. The Garcia children, Che Jr., Gemma, Aliana and Maya, are all active in sports - but Che hasn't made it to a single game this year. The Garcia kids are tired of their dad juggling 14-hour days working two full-time jobs and kidnap him for quality family time.
(P) Monday, April 25 (9 – 10 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Traveling Dad
Hank Margolis is a high-power business consultant who travels out-of-state Monday through Thursday, and continues to work most weekends at his home office. Hank’s wife of fifteen years, Amy, feels alone in her marriage. What’s even more alarming is his son Jack’s belief that Hank leaves every week because he has a family in another state that he would rather be with. Desperate to make Hank see how his choices are affecting them, the kids take matters into their own hands.

“Addicted to Food”
Series Premiere - Tuesday, April 5 at 10:00 p.m. ET/PT (60 minutes)

In this riveting new docu-series, eight people battle their addiction to the one thing they literally can’t live without: food. At Shades of Hope, a rural Texas treatment center, these eight desperate clients struggle through an intense 42-day treatment plan led by maverick therapist Tennie McCarty. Using unorthodox methods and a tough-love approach, Tennie asks her clients to confront the most painful issues in their lives that have led them to become hooked on food as an escape. Full of drama, emotion, and triumph, “Addicted to Food” shows us that recovery is possible even for people who fear their lives are hopeless.

(P) Tuesday, April 5 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Welcome to Treatment
Five women and one man struggle with compulsive over eating as two women wrestle with bulimia. Together they embark on a 42-day journey that will turn their worlds upside down. Led by maverick therapist Tennie McCarty, the eight clients learn that the key to overcoming their disorder is to face those most painful issues in their lives that have caused them to turn to food as an escape.

(P) Tuesday, April 12 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Exposed
During their first week in treatment at Shades of Hope, Tinisha begins a painful detox from food and threatens to leave, while other clients wrestle with assignments designed to help them face the emotional pain that their eating disorder has caused.

(P) Tuesday, April 19 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: If It’s Not One Thing, It’s Your Mother
Using a visualization exercise, Tennie helps the clients work through the pain of their childhoods. Tensions rise leading patients Elizabeth and Tinisha to rebel against the meal plan, and Traecey is forced to deal with the grief over her brother’s death.

(P) Tuesday, April 26 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: I Have A Right to Be Angry!
While Tennie encourages the clients to express the pain of their childhood through explosive “shame and anger” role-play, Amy refuses to open up in group therapy and rebels against the staff.
“The Judds”
Two-Hour Series Premiere - Sunday, April 10 (9 - 11 p.m. ET/PT)

“The Judds” is a unique docu-series that captures the complex and sometimes comical relationship between Naomi and Wynonna Judd -- one of the most successful mother-daughter country music duos in the history of entertainment. Set against the rich backdrop of their much-anticipated 18-city reunion tour, “The Judds” follows Naomi and Wynonna’s emotional journey as they work to heal old wounds, reconnect with their fans and share the spotlight once again.

(P) Sunday, April 10 (9 – 10 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Naomi’s Secret
After decades of conflict, country music royalty Naomi and Wynonna Judd prepare for their first concert tour together in 10 years, and risk shattering the fragile peace they’ve attained as painful memories are stirred up for both mother and daughter.

(P) Sunday, April 10 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Hurricane Wynonna
Wynonna and Naomi are overwhelmed by last minute preparations as they leave their ranch in Tennessee, bound for their opening night concert in Green Bay. The moment of truth arrives as the Judds take the stage for the first time in a decade.

(P) Sunday, April 17 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Heartbreak in the Heartland
As the Judds’ tour progresses, Naomi struggles with nightmarish memories of her childhood abuse. She desperately wants to reveal her secret, but when opportunities arise for Naomi to tell those closest to her, she finds herself unable to open up.

(P) Sunday, April 24 (10 – 11 p.m. ET/PT) Episode: Naomi Tells Her Secret
Naomi finally summons the courage to tell her daughter Wynonna about the abuse she suffered as a child, and is stunned by the manuscript of daughter Ashley’s soon-to-be-published tell-all autobiography.
