BAKERY BOSS – Monday, December 2
BAKERY BOSS features Buddy “Cake Boss” Valastro as he travels across the country, bringing his famous blend of business skills and baking expertise to help other bakers that are struggling to make their American dreams come true. Having made his own family-run neighborhood bakery, Carlo's, known around the world, Buddy understands the challenges of running a business – and the complications of doing it with relatives at your side. Now, Buddy will spend time helping a family in crisis, both personally and professionally, helping evaluating their every ingredient and technique, and challenging them to make big changes all in an effort to transform their crumbling dream into a sweet success.

BEST FUNERAL EVER – Monday, December 2
For most of us, death is a time to mourn and shed tears for the departed. For others, it’s a time to honor their loved ones and celebrate the life through services that turn the traditional funeral on its head. BEST FUNERAL EVER follows the Dallas-based Golden Gate Funeral Home where John Beckwith Jr. and his staff organize the most unique funerals in the country.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 2

8:30PM ET/PT
BAKERY BOSS: BIGGER & BATTER – “FRIENDLY BAKE SHOP”
Full of tweets, facts, and bonus scenes, in this episode of BAKERY BOSS: BIGGER & BATTER, the Friendly Bake Shop is rundown and struggling for business. Buddy steps in to get things back in shape. Plus, find out how the bakery is doing today.

BAKERY BOSS – “VIOLET’S BAKE SHOP”
Violet’s son Michael quit his job to work at her Hungarian Jewish Bakery in New York. But now, the business is suffering and Violet will not let Michael make any changes. Meanwhile, Violet’s husband Marty has spent thousands of dollars to keep the bakery doors open, but is about to call it quits and close his wallet forever. When Buddy discovers that most of the bakery’s baked goods are bought from an outside supplier, can he convince a stubborn Violet that changes need to be made in order to bring this business and family back together?

BEST FUNERAL EVER – “BOWLING/WEDDING FUNERAL”
In life, Judy Sunday was a bowler. In passing, she will be remembered in the same fashion as her family sends her casket down the lane for one final strike. And when a husband and wife die within a year of each other, Golden Gate plans a Wedding/Funeral combo. If they can find a tuxedo and gown small enough, they will marry two urns, and send them off as one.

10:30PM ET/PT
BEST FUNERAL EVER – “BREAKFAST/OLYMPICS FUNERAL”
The Beasley Family celebrates the life of a young man who ate breakfast three times a day – preaching, frying eggs, mourning, and flipping flapjacks all at once. After the passing of Olympian Gold Medalist Ronnie Ray Smith, the Golden Gate staff has their work cut out for them when they must figure out how to get a coffin to run the 100 meter dash for the Track and Field-themed funeral.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3
