WHERE/WHEN: Premieres Thursday, June 23, at 9 p.m. ET/PT on HGTV and available to stream on discovery+

WHO: Home renovation expert, designer and social media creator Jenn Todryk, whose popular Instagram account @theramblingredhead boasts a passionate and growing following of more than one million fans, returns in a new 10-episode season of HGTV's hit series, No Demo Reno. On Instagram, Jenn's fans love her hilarious and relatable take on motherhood as well as her savvy advice on home design, fashion and beauty, and, in No Demo Reno, they see her tear down the notion that major demolition is always necessary to create whole-home transformations. During the series, which attracted more than 25 million viewers to its first season, Jenn combines clever design solutions and cost-effective ideas to create stunning home overhauls for clients in the Dallas-Fort Worth area—often without removing walls or tackling large-scale demo. She works within each home's existing footprint to save the family time, money and stress and ultimately delivers an astonishing reveal.

This season, Jenn meets two clients in every episode—one who needs a massive makeover of several rooms and the other who wants to upgrade just one space with an extreme design do-over. In the premiere episode, she gives a large family a kitchen and main living area that meets everyone's needs and also completes a serene main bedroom retreat with a built-in office for a couple with six children.

No Demo Reno is produced by RTR Media.
